TEMATI

THINKING SOLUTIONS

Unique solutions for industrial processes

Industrial processes come with a multitude of challenges: Insulation ; C.U.I.; Asbestos Abatement; Indoor Air Quality; Temperature Control; Fire Safety. These are serious issues that require reliable and innovative products. At Temati, we have decades of experience and expertise. We are your ideal partner when seeking solutions that make a real difference.

Growing to serve you better.

Founded in 1962, Temati began by manufacturing, promoting and selling Foster® products in the Benelux. Temati is now Europe's sole licensed manufacturer and supplier of Foster® and Childers products.

Today, besides the Foster® products, we market an extensive range of specialist materials to customers throughout Europe, as well as overseas. As we continue to expand our services, you can continue to rely on Temati for a wide range of products, including accessories and insulation materials.

Industrial design and construction
an exciting challenge

Designed to meet extreme demands

Industrial design and construction are exiting challenges, covering conditions ranging from cryogenic 'lows' to refractory 'highs' and requiring special attention for Corrosion-Under-Insulation (C.U.I.), a serious and often underestimated threat to plant an equipment. Ineffective solutions can drastically increase maintenance costs and reduce both plant-performance and the economic life of production units.

Creating the ideal industrial installation demands high-quality products that you and your clients can rely on, even under the most severe conditions. Consult Temati: we have solutions to suit your specific design and construction demands with regard to thermal- and sound insulation, fire protection, corrosion prevention and personal safety. Take full advantage of our team of professionals – their extensive knowledge and experience will help you develop solutions for specific problems.

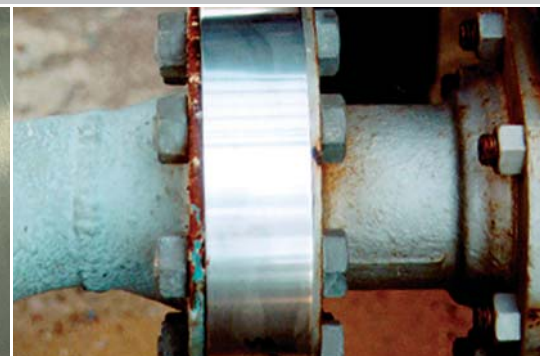

Practical solutions
experience around the globe

Manufactured to do the job!

When the actual work begins, you need quality materials – at competitive prices – that will get the job done to your specific requirements and within the time allocated. Accurate delivery, logistical support, full technical- and safety information, application instructions and on-site training are crucial to well-managed construction- or maintenance projects. For Temati these are self-evident services that are supplied as a matter of course.

Our technical solutions are to-the-point and cost-effective. You will be working with quality materials, including our exclusive Foster® products. Stockists and Distributors in all major European countries provide easy access to our materials. Technical specialists and a dedicated sales support team are at your complete service to ensure that specifications are complied with and work-schedules maintained. All with due regard for the safety of your workers.
